Our first effort from this magnificent vineyard and it already feels like a part of our soul. The wine exudes all the hallmark traits of Radian. This begins with the color. It's almost impossible to describe the color of Pinot Noir from Radian. Always a bit darker than you would expect from Pinot but with a glorious, almost fluorescent purple rim that is so characteristic of the vineyard. It has always been a distinct feature. The aromas are of black and blue fruits laced with graphite and meatiness. A lingering hint of vegetal aromas keep the wine fresh and bright. On the palate you have a smooth as silk cascade of decadence. Structured by acid which will undoubtedly ease up over the next 10-15 years and beyond....Oh, did we forget to mention this wine is built for the long run? It is. We're always honest in our assessment of when the wine will peak and I'm thinking this has at least 5 years in bottle before it shows its true colors. Patience will be rewarded.”
